HARDING DRAMA ENDS WITH FUNERAL RITES

MARION TODAY RETURNING TO NORMAL WAYS

Guards at Tomb and Mourning Draperies Only Reminders of Historical Events of Friday

SCENES AT HOME AND CEMETERY RECOUNTED BY FAMILY FRIEND

No News Writers Present in Home as Funeral Cortege Leaves

MARION, Ohio.—By The Associated Press.—Her hour of sorrow over, Marion Saturday returned to her accustomed ways.

Gone were the silent crowds that streamed in town Friday to pay their last respects to the late Warren G. Harding, the gentle, unassuming newspaper editor who became president of the United States. The only physical reminders of the day's historical events were the mourning-draped streets and the military patrol in front of the modest vault where the body was placed.

In the uncertain future, a mausoleum is to be erected to house the dust of the fourth Ohio president to die in office, and when completed, possibly on top of Indian Mound, near the cemetery, where his mother is buried, the American people will have another shrine.

Northampton Replaces Marion

For Marion the brief period of her fame as the home of the president was ended and another small town—Northampton, Mass., the home of Calvin Coolidge—took the place of Marion in the public eye.

Friends and neighbors of Mr. Harding today congregated to talk over the lifetime events. Each feature was gone over in detail. Many were the stories related.

One old friend of the Harding family gave a vivid description of the intimate and dramatic scene in the living room at Mr. Harding's home yesterday afternoon when President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft and other high government officials met in the few brief moments before the funeral procession started for the cemetery. No newspaper writers were present to record the scene.

"It was 1 p. m.," he told the Associated Press, "when the line which from early morning had been filing through to look on the dead president's face for the last time, was stopped by the uplifted hand of a soldier on guard at the door. Thousands in the line were disappointed after hours of waiting.

"A hush settled over the rooms that had heard for two days the tramping feet of thousands.

HARDING HONORED BY JOHN J. ESCH IN SPEECH HERE

Member of Interstate Commerce Commission Speaks in Riverside Park

CROWD ATTENDS SERVICES IN MEMORY OF PRESIDENT

Rev. J. L. Panzlau Also Talks at Memorial Service

An impressive ceremony marked the public service in memory of President Harding at Riverside park Friday afternoon. A throng of La Crosse citizens, estimated at more than two thousand, gathered around the band stand in the park, in spite of the light rain, to pay tribute to the deceased president.

John J. Esch, for many years representative in congress from the La Crosse district, and at present a member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, gave the principal address of the occasion. Mr. Esch was a personal friend and a close associate of President Harding, recently in his capacity as member of the commission, and previously when the deceased president was senator from Ohio.

Mr. Esch traced briefly, the history of the president, from the time of his birth until his death a few days ago. In the president's life he found a message, which he passed on to his audience. This message was that the United States should push forward, and that its people should be progressive. He pointed out that President Harding, advancing from the station of farm boy to president of the United States, largely through his own efforts to better himself, typified the spirit of the American people.

His Big Achievement

The speaker also told of the rigors of the life of the president, and of the dangers which are always present. He said, too, that President Harding took over the office at a very critical period in the history of the republic, and that he though that his life would live after him because of his efforts toward a lasting peace in the world, through a program of limitation of armaments.

Mr. Esch also lauded the deceased chief executive for his stand in bringing about a treaty with Japan, and for his efforts in behalf of Mexico. He also approved of the world court plan, which was the pet ambition of President Harding during his time in office.

In closing, Mr. Esch read an extract from the last word of the president to the American people. It was part of an address which was to have been given by the president to a convention of Knights Templars in Hollywood, Cal., but which was read to the gathering by his secretary. In it he urged a closer relation between religion and business as a basis for permanent peace and prosperity.

Rev. Panzlau Talks

In his memorial address, Rev. J. L. Panzlau, chairman of the meeting, praised the people of the country for their attitude in forgetting politics and personal grievances in their sorrow over the loss of such a great national figure. He urged the people who gathered in the park to learn to be kindly, generous and sympathetic with the living, as well as for the dead.

A prayer by Rev. E. C. Dixon and the reading of a selection from the scripture by Rev. E. O. Vik preceded the address by Mr. Esch. Rev. M. R. Philpott gave the benediction. The city band played several selections, among them "Nearer My God To Thee," "Lead Kindly Light," the favorite hymn of the president, and the "Star Spangled Banner." The community singing was under the direction of Mrs. R. C. Whelpley.

Service at Milwaukee Depot

Grouped around a black draped platform on the lawn in the rear of the Milwaukee depot, in North La Crosse, employes of the Milwaukee railroad roundhouse, switch and engine crews gathered Friday at 1.45 p. m. and paid last homage to the memory of President Harding. The men were grimy and toil-stained but they stood with uncovered and bowed heads and at the conclusion of the prayer that closed the service returned to their daily tasks in roundhouse, on engine or in the coal bunkers.

The keynote of the meeting was sounded by Hugh R. Jones, roundhouse foreman, who presided at the presentation of the memorial program.

"Lest we forget, we, the employes of the Milwaukee railroad, at the La Crosse terminal, thought it befitting the occasion to have a few minutes of devotional service at this sad hour in the history of our nation," said Mr. Jones. "We have gathered to pay our last homage to our beloved president.

He Proposes A Children's Memorial To His Friend

William Chester McDonald has spent five of his eleven years strapped in bed. A year ago President Harding sent Billy an autographed photograph and a message of cheer. Today Billy proposes that the children of America contribute their pennies to build a Children's Building as a memorial to his lamented friend at the Sesquicentennial celebration at Philadelphia. Here he is explaining his plan to Mrs. Winifred Stoner, author, at his hospital-home in Atlantic City. Mrs. Stoner started the fund with $1,000.

COOLIDGE LOGICAL NOMINEE IN 1924 DECLARES BORAH

Idaho Senator Says Nation Should Give Present Executive Chance to "Make Good"

SEES TROUBLOUS POLITICAL TIMES AHEAD FOR NATION

Only a Party With Definite, Inspiring Program Can Survive

SPOKANE, Wash.—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, in an interview here last night, said he believed President Coolidge was the logical man for the republican presidential nomination in the next campaign and called upon the public to "give" him a chance to make good."

The senator said:

"Fare and circumstances have made Calvin Coolidge president. He takes up a heavy task. There are some very difficult problems asking, or rather, demanding attention.

"The agricultural situation is extremely serious. The coal problem, in my opinion, will soon be acute. Transportation also requires consideration and the foreign situation will bring into view the mad policies now plunging Europe into deeper misery.

"If he makes good, or shows in the next few months that he is making good, he will certainly be nominated. What the people want is results. If Coolidge gives results, that is all there is to it. I think he is an able man. I want to see him given a chance to make good."

Turbulent political times ahead are foreseen by Senator Borah.

"No political party," he said, "can survive the next campaign which does not have a clear, definite, constructive and inspiring program."

FLAMES DAMAGE WATKINS PLANT AT WINONA SATURDAY

WINONA, Minn.—Fire, believed to have been caused by a cave-in of three floors, early Saturday caused damage estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000 in one of the manufacturing and storage buildings of the J. R. Watkins company.

An overload of stock is believed to have caused the third floor to give way and crash through to the basement.

FINISH HARVEST IN NORTH

GROVER BERGDOLL SHOOTS KIDNAPPER IN GERMAN HOTEL

EBERBACH, Baden.—By The Associated Press.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the American draft evader, shot down and killed one man and wounded another Friday night when men concealed in his hotel apartment seized him in a kidnaping attempt.

Two other men waiting outside in an old American army automobile with an American shield on the side were arrested after being menaced by a crowd. The German authorities said one was an American army lieutenant and the other a Russian prince.

Both of Bergdoll's assailants were identified as Frenchmen, in the service of the Americans.

MRS. HARDING TO LEAVE WHITE HOUSE WITHIN A FEW DAYS

Returns to Pack Up Immediately Despite Urging of Coolidges that She Stay

WASHINGTON, D. C.—On the train that bore her husband's body across the continent from San Francisco and then to Marion for burial Friday, Mrs. Harding returned to Washington Saturday to pack up her personal belongings at the white house and to arrange for her final departure from the capital.

As the train, which will have a place in history by virtue of the momentous journey it has travelled, approached Washington to be broken up finally, the widow of the president called to her state room every member of the party which had made the pilgrimage to Alaska and back and thanked each one individually for remaining with her "until the end." She appeared still to be bearing up courageously.

She was driven directly to the white house where it was said that only a few days would be required for her to close out her affairs there and take leave of the mansion which had been her home since 1921.

At the white house, waiting to receive her, was Mrs. Coolidge, who herself had reached Washington but a short time before from Marion. The new first lady of the land instructed that Mrs. Harding remain as long as she desired. After a short visit, Mrs. Coolidge returned to her hotel and Mrs. Harding made known her intention to receive no other callers during the day but to spend much of the time resting.

PRESSURE BROUGHT AS NEW PRESIDENT RETURNS TO DESK

Coolidge Back from Marion to Take up Presidential Duties Awaiting Him

SELECTION OF SECRETARY ONE OF FIRST TASKS FACING HIM

Harding's Secretary Resigns After Services at Marion

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Coolidge returned to Washington at 7:55 Saturday from the Marion tomb in which Warren G. Harding Friday was laid to rest.

President Coolidge's return to his executive offices was accompanied by a renewal of pressure on him for an extra session in congress.

Several of those who want an extra session already have placed their views before the president and those who oppose the idea have been heard. But to none, so far as can be learned, has he indicated a decision.

Advocates of immediate action have based their pleas on the necessity of quickly enacting legislation to help the farmers in the marketing of their crops and to settle the coal question. Those adverse to the idea believe nothing can be gained from an extra session at this time.

Begins Big Task

The president's return to his desk was regarded as marking the actual beginning of his task of formulating the policies to govern his conduct in office. During the interim since he took the oath a week ago, he has been almost constantly engaged with the funeral ceremonies of his predecessor.

One of the first concerns of the chief executive will be to select a secretary to the president to succeed George B. Christian, Jr., who resigned Friday. Few other immediate changes are expected in the personnel of the administration. All cabinet members will stay, for the present, at least.

For Saturday, Mr. Coolidge had on his engagement list a number of conferences with leaders in congress and others who desired to lay before him information and advice.

Among the first to call at the president's hotel was Representative Graham of Illinois, one of the candidates for the republican leadership in the new house.

No Word on Secretary

Mr. Coolidge to date has not given a hint as to his possible choice for secretary, despite the fact that political savants in Washington had been bantering for several days with the names of Edward T. Clark, who served him as secretary while he was vice president, and Benjamin F. Felt, former Boston newspaperman, now in

COUNCIL ADJOURNS UNTIL TUESDAY IN HONOR TO HARDING

Order Flags at Half Mast Until September 3; Standing Vote Taken

DISCUSSION ARISES OVER DREDGING PROJECT HERE

Reject Bids With View to Purchase of Dredge

OUT of respect for the funeral day of the late Warren G. Harding, the common council adjourned its regular session Friday until the following Tuesday after transacting business that could not be delayed.

At the closing of the meeting the council passed a resolution expressing regret for the death of the president of the United States and ordering flags on all public buildings at half mast from 7 o'clock in the morning until sundown until and including September 3. While the vote was taken, members of the council and all those in the council chamber were asked to stand.

Harding Resolution

The resolution adopted follows:

"Whereas, God in his infinite wisdom has taken away his excellency, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States of America, and

"Whereas, the death of the president is a sore loss and grief not alone to the federal government, and the states comprising it, but even to every community and citizen within the nation; now, therefore,

"Be it resolved, by the common council of the city of La Crosse that it is fitting and proper that the city of La Crosse and its citizens recognize their loss and express their sorrow for the death of the late president by the display of the American flag upon the schools, fire stations and all other public buildings within the city at half staff on each day from 7 a. m. until sundown until and including the third day of September, A. D. 1923."

May Purchase Dredge

Considerable discussion arose over the receipt of bids from the La Crosse Dredging company for the dredging program outlined by the council some months ago. In view of the expenditure of approximately $45,000 necessary for the employment of a dredging company, several members of the council heard on the question were unanimously in favor of the city purchasing its own equipment and a resolution rejecting the bids received and directing the public utilities committee to negotiate with the firm owning the dredge at Charles City, Iowa, which a local committee has already inspected, was adopted.

The contract advertised for called for a channel 60 to 100 feet wide from dam No. 11 through Isle la Plume, to the main channel of the Mississippi river. This work was estimated at 60,000 cubic yards at a cost of 23½ cents per yard. Another project in the contract for which bids were received was a 100 foot channel in Black river from the Milwaukee railroad bridge to a point opposite St. Cloud street. The estimated yardage 56,760 at a cost of 24 cents per yard. Third was the project of dredging an embankment for a bathing beach at Pettibone park, for a distance of 1,000 feet from the wagon bridge south. This was estimated at 2,630 cubic yards at a cost of 20½ cents per yard.

Wants Straight Channel

Alderman Weigel, in several lengthy discussions on the subject, advocated a 60 foot channel from the foot of Jackson street to a point some distance this side of Running slough as a means of securing relief for all time of the conditions and stagnant water which has threatened health in that section for the last five or six years. Alderman Weigel held that a channel dredged out from dam No. 11, at an angle to the river could not be kept open for a length of time of more than a year, stating that in times of high water the channel would be quickly filled in.

Alderman Houska and several other men in the council chamber advocated immediate relief of the present conditions, the alderman of the Third ward stating that families residing in that section were being forced to look for other houses in a different section of the city because of the foul atmosphere caused from the stagnant water.

Alderman Weigel held that with a channel straight through to Running slough a motor boat harbor could be arranged for near Isle la Plume.

The council will no doubt take definite action on the purchase of a dredge within the near future.

The electrical contract for the new Roosevelt school was awarded to the Electric Supply company at the figure of $449.

CUNO OFFERS RESIGNATION; NOT ACCEPTED

Socialists Attack Chancellor for Failure of Government to Provide Financial Relief

FOOD SITUATION LEADS TO RIOTING AT MANY POINTS

Paris Sees Weakening of Ruhr Resistance and Possibility of Negotiations

BERLIN.—By the Associated Press.—The United Socialists, in a party caucus, Saturday adopted a resolution withdrawing confidence from the Cuno government. The chancellor has been notified and it is expected he will retire before midnight.

BERLIN.—By The Associated Press.—In spite of the immense crowds parading Unter Den Linden and the adjacent streets of the city, Berlin was quiet up to 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. President Ebert and the cabinet attended the Constitution day ceremonies at the reichstag, which were given strong police and troop protection. Armed patrols also were assigned to the Wilhelmstrasse and the government buildings.

LONDON—By The Associated Press—Chancellor Cuno handed President Ebert his resignation today, says a Central News dispatch from Berlin, but the president refused to accept it.

BERLIN—Friday—By The Associated Press—President Ebert convened a session of the German cabinet late last night and also received the reichstag leaders, the conferences lasting well past midnight. These conferences are commonly heralded as presaging the retirement of the Cuno ministry within 48 hours with its probable successor a government formed by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German people's party leader, heading a coalition including the United Socialists and the three bourgeois parties—the clericals, the people's party and the democrats.

Socialists Attack Government

Although the reichstag with the aid of the socialist votes accepted the government's emergency tax program providing revenues approximating on paper in the trillions, its acceptance is viewed as only further emphasizing the failure of the government to come forward with relief measures at an earlier date.

This is the crux of the criticism levelled at Chancellor Cuno by the United Socialists, who in yesterday's session of the reichstag assumed an attitude of opposition to the government—a position into which they were forced through the clamor of their radical following which is being goaded on by the communistic agitation.

With the socialists thus abandoning their attitude of neutrality the government is considered hardly likely to risk facing a parliamentary opposition on the left which commands 180 votes, although it could count on majority support from the middle parties and the nationalists. But Chancellor Cuno is aware that the middle parties without the neutrality of the socialists constitute a precarious support in the reichstag, and this circumstance is deemed likely to prove decisive in determining the retirement of his cabinet.

Collapse Believed Certain

BERLIN—By The Associated Press—A critical food situation, superinduced by a shortage of supplies and by prices beyond the reach of the worker who is being paid in worthless paper marks, together with an internal economic and financial situation that is regarded as highly favorable to the effective spread of bolshevik propaganda, may be said to be the immediate causes of the impending retirement of the Cuno ministry. Reichstag circles accept the fall of the present government as an accomplished fact.

Rioting at Big Plants

There has been continuous rioting at the big industrial plants in and around Berlin during the past few days, caused by the food situation, the money shortage and wage disputes.

At the giant Siemens-Halske works in Siemenstadt the workers assumed an attitude of passive resistance, refusing to do their work, upon which the management shut down the

LITTLE PROSPECT OF LOWER TAXES SAYS HARRINGTON

Taxes "Morally Certain to be Higher" Declares Tax Commissioner

MADISON, Wis.—There is no present prospect that taxes will ever be lower than they are now. They are morally certain to be higher.

This is the view of the taxation question taken by John Harrington of the tax commission.

"There will probably be some changes in distribution so that they will bear more lightly on industry and business—on labor and productive capital and more heavily on unearned incomes," he declared.

"It is an old maxim that, if a thing is repeated often enough, it will be believed, although not true. The politicians have been shouting 'high taxes' so long and so loud that people actually believe taxes are a dreadful burden. They are not.

"We are a prosperous people. With one automobile to every six of the population how can it be denied that we are prosperous? The upkeep and operation of autos run for pleasure in this state costs more than double the entire cost of our government, state, county, city, town and village."

REPORTS BIG GAIN IN TOURIST TRAVEL DURING THE SEASON

GREEN BAY, Wis.—The extent of tourist travel in Wisconsin is shown to a degree by a prediction made Geo. E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Michigan Peninsula Development bureau when he says, that if the present rate of travel is maintained by tourists through August and September, approximately 100,000 tourists will have visited the upper peninsula.

We have made repeated inquiries from those actually in contact with the tourists to Cloverland this year and in every case have been told that the rate of tourist travel through the various communities of the peninsula this season, is from fifty to one hundred per cent greater than that of 1922, said Mr. Bishop while on a farm bureau tour through a Michigan county recently.

With the exception of Canadian tourists making their way over the border line into upper Michigan, practically all of the tourists pass through Wisconsin on their way to the peninsula.

ZINC PLANT TO RE-OPEN

HILLSBORO, Ill.—The American Zinc company, whose plant has been closed several days because of labor troubles, placed about 100 men at work Saturday morning, firing furnaces apparently making ready to reopen the plant under the protection of state troops. The first troops were due to arrive here at 10 a. m. according to Colonel Albert Culbertson, who is in general command. The soldiers will be marched immediately to the plant where a line will be thrown about the company property. Soldiers also will be on guard within the plant, Colonel Culbertson said.

MICHIGAN SENDING BOYS TO WISCONSIN TO STUDY DAIRYING

Thirty-five Farm Boys from Upper Peninsula to Visit Badger Dairy Farms

PICKFORD, Mich. — Wisconsin's dairy farms will be turned into a school for thirty-five upper peninsula farm boys who will tour Wisconsin this month to inspect dairy farms and listen to lectures on dairying, with a view to applying the acquired ideas to the development of dairying among upper peninsula farmers.

The tour will be taken under the auspices and expense of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau, George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the organization announced in delivering his report to the directors.

"The best work the bureaus can do is to help the farmer who is already here," said Mr. Bishop. "Prosperous farmers give the best advertising to Cloverland. It is indirect advertising but it is the best."

The bureau, which has taken as its task the development of dairying so that the peninsula may take its place with Wisconsin as a dairy region, has asked for $35,000 with which to carry on its work during the coming year.

Mr. Bishop said last year the bureau focused its attention on bringing tourists to Cloverland and this year every possible effort is being made to carry on an extensive agricultural program by giving farmers practical assistance and expert advice.

DESPISE NOT

MY son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of Him.—Hebrew 12: 5.

The Junk Man

IN New York the Waste Paper Dealers' association, unable to compete with the Salvation Army on prices, petitions the attorney general to take a hand. They claim that the Salvation Army, by conducting a big waste paper business, is violating the provisions of the act under which it was created as a religious and charitable corporation.

For instance, in one case, the Army bid $1.37 per 100 pounds for old paper, while the next highest bid, by a commercial competitor was only 65 cents per 100 pounds.

The average reader will not be interested in the technicalities of this squabble. But it will be both interesting and astonishing, that the collection of waste paper in New York City alone is a 15-million dollar industry.

The Salvation Army is reconstructing a seven-story building in New York City to house and provide working facilities for 80 down-and-outers, also to include a store where the poor can buy salvaged and repaired clothing and household goods at very low prices. The money for this construction job—$30,000—was obtained by collecting waste paper at the back doors of New York households.

Look at your waste basket. It is a symbol of one of the chief ways by which big fortunes will be made in the future. We have been so blessed with natural resources that we have gone along carelessly for generations and are only beginning to open our eyes to the possibilities of economy by the salvage route. This is true of all industries, in varying degrees. For instance, the early farmers in America mined the soil rather than farmed it. They sapped the very life from wonderfully rich and fertile earth—drained it of the best part of its vitality—and it is only within comparatively few years that there has been any widespread movement to replenish the soil's richness by commercial fertilizer.

There's a saying that Europe could live on the food we Americans waste in our garbage pails. An exaggeration, yes; but it illustrates a true principle. Slowly, however, we are learning to economize with food, though a period of prosperity quickly starts the garbage pails overflowing.

The cream has been skimmed from our natural resources. Scientific economy is becoming compulsory. And economy on a big scale will be worked out in the laboratories. A tremendous start has already been made in that direction. Our future gold mines will be in the waste basket, the garbage pail, the ash heap and the trash pile.

Old Stuff

ONE hears much about the wonderful roads of the ancient Romans, some of them being in use today, 2,000 years or so after they were built. Usually what one hears about Roman roads is in connection with some sort of a wallop at modern roads, the Roman Empire's constructions being brought up by way of comparison to show what road building might actually accomplish, when properly done.

So it is interesting to note that modern highway engineers have been checking up on the ancient Roman road builders through the technical knowledge of our own day. They find that the most famous Roman roads were solid masonry structures, several feet thick. The Appian Way for instance, might well be called a very wide, low stone wall rather than what we understand as a road. Moreover, the engineers note, the Romans had no six-ton trucks or other modern high-speed traffic pounding over their roads.

And—last but decidedly not least—to construct a road like the Appian Way would cost, under present building conditions, $250,000 a mile!

That for you, Mr. Taxpayer, when you start to make disparaging comparisons between modern roads and the famous highways of ancient Rome! Think of digging down into the public purse for a million iron men for every four miles of road! The Romans could do it so long as their legions could march out every year or two and find new countries to bring under tribute, and new populations to be forced into slavery—for the Roman public works were slave built. But we have to find our road funds out of our own pockets, and pay the going rate of wages for the labor that builds them.

On the whole, our road system does fairly well. Our roads may not last as long as the Roman roads without attention, but they carry a traffic ten times heavier and more destructive, we have miles of paved road where the Roman empire had yards, and the cost, though falling upon all the citizens, is not excessive.

The Good Roads Evil

STATE Highway Engineer A. R. Hirst notes that the state of the roads can be told by the accident reports. The more accidents, the better the shape of the roads. On poor roads, rough and slippery, people take care, just as they take care on curving, hilly highways. It is the good roads and the inviting straight stretches that tempt drivers to excessive speed and death or injury. Mr. Hirst's comment illuminates the urgent need for education in safe driving and caution. In a comparatively few years there will be little but good roads in Wisconsin. If good roads mean death and injury, the highway program is not going to be an entirely unalloyed blessing.

If you can drive safely on poor roads, surely you can protect your car, your passengers and yourself on roads where only deliberate recklessness and carelessness can bring you to injury. Get the habit! Avoid excessive speed and useless risks as you would avoid the commission of a crime. Temptation will not make you steal or commit forgery. It is not less criminal to drive recklessly and the punishment is even more severe if you fail to "get away with it."

Cora Cooks the Breakfast

BY JANE OSBORN

Filbert North and Compton Hilton went down Linden street at the same time every morning, for they both left home when the 7 o'clock whistles blew. The difference was that Compton, aged fourteen, went afoot, while Filbert North sailed easily along in his own car. It was exactly the sort of car that Compton was planning to have when he grew up. Then Cora wouldn't have to play for a living for herself and Compton.

Then she wouldn't be away every evening. Then, too, she would be able to go to bed time enough so she would be able to get up in the morning to eat with Compton. All this Compton was reflecting, for it never occurred to him that they would not always go on living together just as they were then.

He had definitely decided for himself never to marry, and probably Cora would never think of it either. There didn't seem to be any one hanging round asking her to marry, the young Compton reflected, so probably she was too old. She was ten years older than he.

Compton started out at 7 because he had made some sort of arrangement at a grocery store near school to put in an hour's hard work every morning before school hours, for which he received a certain credit each week against which he could draw a certain worth of groceries.

He was not earning money, to be sure, but every Saturday he carried home groceries enough to do for his sister and himself for the week to come. Filbert North went at 7, because he was eager to be at the factory of which he was both manager and owner.

In course of time the young factory owner in the automobile saw the young school boy swinging along on foot and asked him to take a lift. Then it became the custom for Filbert to carry Compton as far as the grocery store.

This gave Compton fifteen minutes more a morning to work at the grocery store, for which he received as much as a package of rice more every Saturday. And it was surprising how much Cora could make out of just one package of rice, or a package of cornmeal.

"Gee, but I had something good," Compton told Hilton one morning. "Sister made corn muffins last night and I had them warmed up for breakfast. She sure gets nice breakfasts for me, even if she does have to get them the night before."

"Wish I had some one to make corn muffins for me," said Filbert with self pity. Then he explained to his young friend that his aunt who had been keeping house for him had gone away for two or three months, and that after she had gone the cook left to get married. So Filbert decided to get along without a cook—just a woman once a week to clean house. First he tried to get breakfast at a downtown restaurant, but didn't like to start out hungry. Then he tried making it for himself, and he was still struggling with his own cooking. Dinners were easier. He could get them at his club.

"I'd give a good deal for good breakfasts" said Mr. North wistfully. "I'd get another cook, but how'd I know if she was honest? And I'd have to leave her alone in the house."

They sped along in silence for a few minutes. Compton broke the pause. "What would you give—for a good breakfast? I mean. What, for instance, did you give when you got your breakfast out? As much as 25 cents?"

"Nearly a dollar, counting the tip," said Filbert. "I'd give more than that for a good breakfast, though. Breakfast's my best meal."

"Would you give fifty cents?" said Compton eagerly, and after Filbert North's quiet assent he went on: "You see sister cooks more than enough. She seems to think I've got a terrible appetite, and, well, you see you could have breakfast with me and maybe 'd tell her and maybe I wouldn't. And then I'd get the money, not for myself, but, you see, I'm trying to save enough money to get a little car—for sister. I'm getting twenty-five cents a day now she doesn't know about and I'm saving that, and if I could get fifty cents more that would be seventy-five and after awhile I'd have enough money to make first payments on a car, and after that I guess Cora could afford to make the monthly payments just from what she'd save in taxi fares. You see she plays the piano nights for dances, teaches music daytimes besides, and quite often she has to take a taxi to get to the place, because she has to go at night alone and when the trolley isn't convenient she takes a taxi. But she can't afford to make the first payment."

Filbert North agreed.

At dinner one night not long after Cora looked quizzically at her brother. "Compton, dear," she said, "do you get enough to eat? I mean at breakfast. It seems to me as if I got enormous amounts ready, and I always lay out two or three eggs and make quite a lot of cereal, but there is never a bit left. I don't mind your eating so much, if you can, but I'm wondering if you'd like more. You wouldn't hesitate to tell me, would you?"

Frankly, Cora was suspicious. It had occurred to Compton that if he wanted to keep a secret of his breakfast guest he would better not leave dishes for two to be washed; so he washed all the dishes and explained to Cora that he had as much time for dish-washing as she did.

But Cora had more than once heard subdued voices below stairs. Compton had not thought of this possibility, for to him sleep was so sound that he heard nothing from the time he went to bed at night till his alarm roused him at dawn. Cora's alarm clock stood set, he knew, for 8 o'clock. Compton took it for granted, therefore, that she would be heavily asleep before 7.

Once or twice the boy thought he would tell her all about it. It seemed a little sneaky to be selling part of the breakfast she prepared the night before, but Compton wanted it to be all part of his big surprise.

Compton assured his sister that he had breakfast enough, of course, but that his appetite had been a little "extra sized" of late. Probably the weather was his explanation. Though, as it was coming spring, when appetites are supposed to be laggard, the explanation was not quite convincing.

The next morning, when Compton went downstairs to finish breakfast preparations, he found on taking off the square of linen that covered the breakfast table that places had been laid for two instead of one. Compton went into the kitchen, opened the refrigerator and instead of finding a single grapefruit half ready and waiting for him, he found two. Usually he gave his portion of fruit got ready for breakfast to his "boarder," insisting that he didn't like it anyway—and that was a lusty fib.

Compton was a bit preoccupied during breakfast. He was wondering how his sister could have discovered the secret and what she probably thought of him for not having told her.

"At each place a small breakfast plate was placed, and when Mr. North lifted this plate to one side to make room for his grapefruit, he noticed a small envelope unaddressed. He quickly slipped it into his pocket, and when his young host went into the kitchen to get the corn muffins he had been reheating and the scrambled eggs that he himself had made, Filbert North quickly scanned the note. It was brief:

"Dear Stranger—Since you are a friend of Compton's you are welcome in our house. Compton apparently does not want to explain. Will you? Yours perplexedly,

"CORA HILTON."

Filbert North reread the letter as soon as he got to the office. And for some reason he left it in his waistcoat pocket and reread it on several occasions that day. As he left the house that morning he slipped a note addressed to Miss Cora Hilton into the letter box on the front porch.

"I have no right to explain," he told her, "for that would be a breach of confidence to Compton. Why don't you ask him outright? I do not think you ought to disapprove of what he is doing."

Then followed lines praising Cora's cookery and the expression of Filbert's gratitude. The note was signed simply "Stranger."

Cora read the letter—and that day found occasion to re-read it several times. She found excuse to answer it and the answer was placed beneath Mr. North's plate at breakfast. This followed for a good many days. It was Compton's turn to become suspicious. Then one day Mr. North met Compton with a new automobile. He had gone back to his garage while Compton was "clearing up the breakfast." That was the custom.

Filbert asked him if he thought he could learn to run it.

"I haven't been paying enough for my breakfast," he said, "so I thought maybe you'd take this instead. Cora says you can run it yourself as soon as you get a license."

"Cora—you mean my sister?" stammered Compton. "How'd you get acquainted with her?"

"You introduced us—as much as any one," said Filbert. "We're pretty well acquainted. We've talked things over and——"

"Well, I don't think it would take me long to learn to drive," assured Compton, willing to postpone the solving of the mystery in the face of the marvel of possessing a car of his own. "How soon you think they'd let me have a license?"

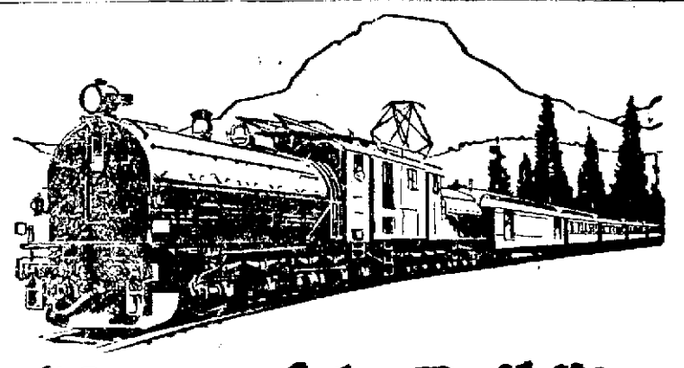

"About as soon as we get our license," said Filbert easily. "Next week maybe."

"Your license," said Compton. "What you getting a license for?"

"We're getting a marriage license—your sister Cora and I" announced Filbert. And Compton only whistled and then said: "Oh, shucks!"

SIX PARTICIPANTS IN MADISON MEET PLAY STRONG GAME

Miss Bernice Wall, Champion, Battles Through Hard Week for Title

FRANCES HADFIELD FALLS WHEN DRIVING WENT BAD

Had Looked Like Sure Winner Early in Week

MADISON, Ws.—Six women golfers who played in the annual Wisconsin Women's Golf association tournament here stood out above the others, and all will be dangerous in coming tournaments, in the opinion of club members who watched the tournament play.

The champion, Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, who had held the honor on previous occasions, played the best golf of the week, coming through a hard draw in which every match was closely contested. Her temperament proved one of her greatest advantages, for when the going was the hardest she refused to force her game, playing all of her shots to the best advantage, and putting especially well.

Falls Away

The runner up, Miss Frances Hadfield of Milwaukee, who at times played sensational golf, fell by the wayside when her driving went bad, and the slump communicated itself to her iron play. During the early part of the week, she looked like a sure winner, as her driving was superior and her short game sparkled.

Mrs. G. A. Cleophus of Beloit, Miss Hadfield's opponent in the semi-finals, played the steadiest game of all, but could not rise to the heights of Miss Hadfield and Miss Wall. Her play was strong enough to eliminate Miss Virginia Gittins of Green Bay, last year's champion who could not match the clock-like steadiness of drives straight down fairway, long second shots, fine approaches and deadly putting. On the greens Mrs. Cleophus' putting stood out above all in match play, and the Green Bay girl fell before its steadiness, and it was only by playing par golf and better that Miss Hadfield escaped its power. In her match against the Beloit player she was forced to make two birdies and a par to overcome her disadvantage, and scoring a birdie, to become one up, held her opponent to halves for the remainder of the round.

Mrs. Boyce Eliminated

Miss Wall eliminated Mrs. R. S. Boyce of Madison in an eighteen hole match, which went to the last green, in much the same manner as the girl she defeated for the championship, went into the final round. The Boyce-Wall match was a stubborn affair right from the start, and after being two down the Oshkosh girl started a rush which carried her to one up, and by working for halves the remainder of the way, put the fighting Madison player out.

Mrs. Stanley Stone, Milwaukee, medalist, also played splendid golf, going to defeat against Mrs. Boyce in a thrilling nineteen hole match, in which Mrs. Boyce proved her gameness by winning with a birdie three, ending the struggle with a twenty foot putt after a perfect drive and a long approach.

Kinks o' the Links

by "PRO"

Where did Bobby Jones finish in the national open last year and what was his score?

Jones finished in a tie for second place last year at Skokie with a score of 289. The veteran pro, John Black, shared the position with the youthful amateur. Sarazen won with a score of 288, so that Jones and Black were just a stroke removed from the title in 1922.

Smith's caddie on all the greens in a match with Jones, indicated the line of Smith's putts with a club and held the club in position while Smith putted. The club held by Smith's caddie did not touch the ground but unquestionably was of great aid to Smith in his putting. Was Smith within his rights in having his caddie indicate the line of putt?

Smith was in error and should suffer a two-stroke penalty for each violation. It is merely permissible to point out the direction for putting before the stroke is made. This disputed point is covered by section 1 of rule 29.

* * * *

A is playing B and giving him one stroke a hole. They both score a five on a certain hole in which A had the honor. Since each scored a five does A retain the honor at the next tee?

Although each made a five on the hole, B won the hole since A was giving him a one-stroke handicap. That of course entitles B to the honor on the next tee.

* * * *

Is there a penalty if a player's ball strikes a flag stick which has been permitted to remain in the hole?

There is no penalty if a player's ball strikes the flag stick while it is in the hole, regardless of the distance the ball is played from.

TWENTY LETTER MEN WILL REPORT AT MARQUETTE

Prospects for Successful Football Season are in Sight

MILWAUKEE, Wis.— Prospects for a successful football squad at Marquette University this fall were never better, there being indications that at least twenty of the twenty-five letter men on the undefeated 1922 team will report for the first workouts.

Coach Frank J. Murray and assistants, Lloyd Scott and Freeman Fitzgerald, will find a husky bunch of gridders on hand when practice is started at the Lake Beulah camp on Sept. 10. Besides the letter men, several other former squadsmen and a likely crop of newcomers will be among the "guests" at the lake. In fact, Coach Murray already is mentally pruning the size of his squad so that the best of the lot may be accommodated at camp.

The team will be captained by Joe (Red) Dunn, Marquette's sensational triple threat quarterback, who placed on several all western elevens last year.

Marquette authorities have mapped out the stiffest schedule in Blue and Gold athletic history for this fall. For the first time, the Hilltoppers will participate in intersectional games—Boston college at Boston, Mass., and the University of Vermont in Milwaukee being among the choice battles on the program.

Marquette's home games will be played on the Marquette campus and at Athletic park. The stadium field has been purchased but will not be suitable for play this fall, although it may be used as a practice gridiron.

THIEF STEALS FALSE TEETH

GRAND FORKS, N. D.—Police had been asked to help solve the mystery of the missing molars and are searching for the meanest thief on the continent." The thief stole every tooth owned by Joe E. Roe of Valley City N. D. and it is believed he may attempt to pawn them, for Roe says they are the best set of false teeth in the state.

From July to August was out of the frying pan into the fire.

JIMMY DE FOREST "CANNED" AS LUIS FIRPO'S TRAINER

NEW YORK—Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight, will not be trained for his fight with Jack Dempsey by Jimmy De Forest, he said emphatically here on Friday.

Firpo said he was through with De Forest and that Horacio Lavalle, his South American friend, would get him ready for his attempt to win the heavyweight championship.

The South American said he was going to Philadelphia Friday afternoon to finish preparations for his fight with Charley Weinert there Monday night.

Manush May Fill Ty's Place in Outfield

HEINIE MANUSH

DETROIT—Heinie Manush, Detroit rookie, looms as the successor of Ty Cobb, as center fielder for the Tygers.

Cobb's legs are bothering him He can't cover the ground he once did and he lacks the old-time speed on the bases. Father Time is taking his toll.

In Manush, Detroit appears to have picked up the most promising outfielder of the year. He has wonderful natural ability. He lacks only experience and confidence in that ability.

"Manush is a great hitter right now. In a couple of years he will be one of the most talked about batters in the big show. He also gives promise of being an excellent fielder. In a couple of years he will have arrived with a vengeance."

There you have Cobb's opinion of Manush. Surely, Cobb, the greatest ball player of all time, the super batsman, should know a promising rookie when he sees one.

Cobb has placed the stamp of approval on Manush. He is grooming the youngster to replace him in the outfield, for Cobb doesn't figure he has more than a couple more years' service in his system.

SERVICE MEN TO FORM COLONY

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn.—Land has been obtained near here by 15 agricultural trainees of the United States Veterans bureau. All except three are in one neighborhood, just south of Pokegama lake. They are forming a farm settlement and are warmly welcomed by townspeople and neighborhood, just south of Pokegama Lake. Several of the men are married and will bring their families to the settlement as soon as homes can be prepared for them.

THREE ESCAPE FROM JAIL

GRAND FORKS, N. D.—No trace has been found of three men who pounded and carved a hole in the county jail wall and escaped. A window weight and knives were used in making the hole. The fugitives are Clyde Robbins and Gilbert Swanson, who are facing charges in connection with the passing of worthless checks, and Grover Hoose, who was awaiting trial under the Mann act.

Puzzling Plays

By Billy Evans

There is a play in which the calling of a balk, the failure of the pitcher to heed the call and the action of the batter in hitting the ball caused trouble.

There is a runner on first. The pitcher, after several efforts to catch him napping, pulls a move which the umpire rules a balk.

The pitcher failed to hear the call of balk or ignored it, for he delivered the ball to the batsman. The batsman knew the umpire had called a balk, but when the pitcher delivered the ball, hit for three bases, scoring the runner from first.

When the umpire first ruled the move a balk the catcher started to protest the ruling. After the batsman had it for three bases he called the umpire's attention to the fact that he had called the move a balk.

What should have been done

THE INTERPRETATION

The moment the umpire ruled the move by the pitcher a balk, play was suspended. What happened after the umpire so ruled was of no concern.

The pitcher's delivering the ball, and the batter's hitting it for three bases, had no bearing on the game The runner, who was on first, was merely entitled to advance to second, while the batsman should have been made to hit over again.

SPORT BRIEFS

CHICAGO — Games played between Sioux City and Wichita at Wichita on Aug. 4 and 5, will stand, Al Tierney, head of the Western league, announced. Jack Holland, Oklahoma City club owner, had protested on the ground that the series was scheduled for Sioux City and changed without authorization of the majority of the club owners.

OTTUMWA, Ia.—Johnny Tillman, St. Paul welterweight, shaded Buddy McDonald, St. Paul, in a ten-round main bout of a boxing card including a match in which Earl Blue, St. Paul middleweight, knocked out Will Woodrow of Ottumwa, Ia., in the second round, and a bout fought to draw by Chick Donovan of New Orleans and Frankie Rose of St. Paul, featherweights.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia.—Glenn Milligan of Sioux City won a technical knockout over Ray Conley of Milwaukee at the end of the fourth round when Conley's seconds threw a sponge into the ring.

WATERTOWN, S. D.—Jimmy Delaney of St. Paul knocked out Joe Herrick in the third round of a scheduled ten round bout. They are light-heavyweights.

The third crop of straw hats is about ripe.

WORLD OF SPORT SILENT AS PRESIDNT WARREN HARDING IS LAID TO REST ON FRIDAY

CHICAGO, Ill.—There was no life on the fields of sport Friday. Baseball diamond and golf course, tennis court and track were vacant, while athletes and lovers of sport everywhere paid final tribute to the memory of Warren G. Harding, the late president. Probably at no time in recent years has there been such a complete cessation of activity in the sporting world as on Friday. The pause was voluntary and included every branch of sport and individuals in every walk of life.

On the day following the late president's death every national sporting body announced that the day of his funeral would be one of mourning and that events scheduled for that day would either be postponed or cancelled. Baseball, which Mr. Harding followed closely during his lifetime, took the lead by calling off all games on two days, but it was closely followed by persons interested in every kind of sport.

No Baseball Played

No professional baseball games were played in the United States Friday or on the preceding Friday. President Heydler of the National league expressed the feeling of those connected with the game when, in his message of sympathy to Mrs. Harding, he said:

"Baseball never had a better friend than Mr. Harding."

Certainly it is true that the game never had a more sincere admirer in the White House. Mr. Harding attended the games in the capital not only on formal occasions, such as the opening of the season, but whenever he had the opportunity. As a young man Mr. Harding played baseball and he took part in several charity games in Marion even after he was elected to the senate. He was also an enthusiastic fisherman and hunter in his youth, but as he grew older he took up horseback riding and golf.

As a senator and in the early days of his presidency his was a familiar figure on the Chevy Chase course at Washington, and not long before he started his western trip he formally opened the new municipal links in the capital. He enjoyed golf and was a fair player, his average being less than 100.

His Last Game

He told a friend last spring that in Georgia on his return trip from Florida he played a course and at the end of the ninth was greatly rejoiced in the score of 42. Now, he said to himself, I am going to finish under 90 for the first time. Then on the second half, as he explained, he "pressed" and "tightened up" and his last nine was a 52. A disappointment, but that 94 was probably as low as he ever got.

The president did not have as much chance to play as he would have liked during the last year, but whenever the opportunity offered a match he accepted it. Only two days before his fatal illness began he played a round with Lieut. Gov. Nichol of the province of British Columbia at the Shaughnessy Heights Golf club in Vancouver.

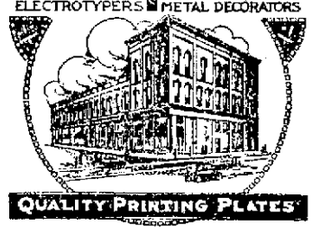

Thus, because of the late president's interest in the game, it was particularly fitting that golfers throughout the country should have so willingly acceded to the request of the United States Golf association and remained off the courses.

The United States Lawn Tennis association, through its president, Dwight F. Davis, requested all clubs under its jurisdiction to postpone all play scheduled for the day. So far as could be ascertained, the request was strictly observed throughout the east. Other sports compiled with like requests.

Crops are a little late this year because the farmers have to wave at the tourists.

SUPERIOR PREPARES ENTERTAINMENT FOR STATE LEGION MEN

Two Thousand Legionnaires Expected to Attend Annual Meeting Next Week

PROGRAM PROVIDES FOR A BUSY THREE-DAY SESSION

National Commander and War Commander to be Present

SUPERIOR, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—Preparations have been completed by the city of Superior for the entertainment of the American Legion state convention here on August 15, 16, and 17, when more than 2,000 legionnaires of the state are expected here.

National Commander Alvin M. Owsley, Major General William G. Hahn former commander of the Thirty-second Division, Vice National commander Barrett, Governor John J. Blaine and several other prominent speakers appear on the three day program.

Auto and boat rides about the city and harbor are among the entertainment features provided by the Superior post for the entertainment of the delegates.

Boxing contests, street dancing and a soldier's celebration at the Tri-State fair grounds are other features of the busy three days of entertainment. Convention routine will consume the morning of the first day, which will be opened by the singing of The National Anthem, followed by addresses of welcome and greetings from the G. A. R., the Spanish American War Veterans and the women's auxiliaries.

The early afternoon session will be given over to the reading of reports of department officials, and after 2 p. m. nothing but pleasure is on the program, which includes automobile rides, boat rides, parades, a boxing show and street dancing.

Thursday morning will be devoted to a business session and the reading of reports of the various committees. At 12:30 p. m. Major General William G. Haan, retired, former Commander of the 32nd division will talk.

Following lunch, the delegates will adjourn to the fair grounds for an athletic carnival.

Friday, the convention will be brought to a close shortly after 1 p. m. following the adoption of resolutions and election of officers.

GOV. DAVIS RESTS EASY; NOT TOLD HE HAS TYPHOID

TOPEKA, Kas.—By The Associated Press.—Governor Davis' condition was "very encouraging" Friday, Dr. L. M. Powell, his physician, said. Despite the fact that the Kansas governor's fever hovered around 103 at night, he rested well and had the "best night he has had since he became sick," the doctor said.

Governor Davis does not know the nature of the malady, Dr. Powell stated, and wants to know why he is kept in bed. He remarked to the doctor that he hoped he didn't have typhoid, but that if he had, he felt that he would never recover. He mentioned to the doctor that two of his brothers died with typhoid, the doctor said.

ATTEMPT TO LOWER MOTORCYCLE SPEED RECORDS SUNDAY

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Motorcycle speed riders will attempt to lower records at the state fair track Sunday when Johnny Seymour, Escanaba, Mich.; Ralph Helburn, Gene Walker, Jim Davis, Leslie Parkhurst, Fred Long, Paul Anderson and Johnny Kriger will start against time in events sanctioned by the motorcycle and allied trades association.

The events scheduled for the day are the ten mile, the twenty-five mile solos and the twenty-five mile side car national championships. Other added events are the five mile solo, the ten mile side car and the ten mile solo.

"ROBIN HOOD"

While "Robin Hood" was in the making, Douglas Fairbanks carried nearly half a million dollars in life insurance, all of which was in addition to the usual amount of protection of this kind that has been written for him.

The exact amount of the insurance carried during the filming of the Robin Hood picture was $480,000, written in two policies by Lloyds. The first policy of $300,000 was for death from any cause, accident, and all sickness from the first day of April to the thirty-first of July. The second policy of $180,000 was for accidental death and covered the same period of time.

"Robin Hood" is at the Riviera Saturday night and Sunday.

CASINO TODAY

Nancy Deaver, who plays the featured role of Jees Uck "The Mohican's Daughter," a stirring romantic drama based on Jack London's story, "Jees Uck," is a young Australian miss and one of the screen's most recent "finds."

When S. E. V. Taylor was casting "The Mohican's Daughter" he found himself in a quandary. The casting of "Jees Uck," is what stumped him. Then someone told of having seen Miss Deaver in one of her pictures. Mention of her name recalled to the director's mind praise he had heard of her work. She was sent for, and immediately upon seeing her Mr. Taylor breathed a sigh of relief. Nancy Deaver was engaged on the spot.

"PENROD AND SAM"

All roads will lead to the Rivoli Theater next week because it will have as its feature attraction another "kid" story by Booth Tarkington. It is "Penrod and Sam."

Penrod and his "gang" cavort from one mirthful adventure to another. First off the bat they stage a mimic war; then they initiate the neighborhood "sissy" none too gently into their secret society; they follow this up with a "mamuth circus" and in general get on the nerves of their elders.

Benny Alexander's portrayal of the character of Penrod is without a doubt the best work that this young artist has ever done for the screen.

"FORSAKING ALL OTHERS,"

If a married love-pirate stole the average girl's sweetheart from her, would she come to the guilty pair's rescue when a maddened husband sought his revenge

Penelope Fearing had lived a placid girlhood, when suddenly she was confronted with the necessity of deciding that question, in "Forsaking All Others," which will be shown at the Majestic Theater next Sunday.

The author has built up a story in which the forces of emotion sweep to a powerful climax.

An all star cast headed by Colleen Moore and Cullen Landis will be seen in the screen production.

"FUN ON THE FARM" SLOGAN OF BARABOO CELEBRATION TODAY

Dairy Program for "Bull Day" Includes Entertainment as Well as Instruction

BARABOO, Wis.—To bring fun to the farm in conjunction with the serious work of developing Wisconsin's dairy reputation, Baraboo was engaged in celebrating its first "Bull Day,"—a day unique among the many celebrations.

Baraboo's "Bull Day brought thousands to appreciate the joys of farm life, with a romantic attachment. Farm lads turned their Fords toward the John M. Kelley farms for their Saturday's entertainment, instead of toward the city. While entertained, they at the same time found instruction waiting for them at the "Bull Day."

This old home of Ringling Brothers circus had angin the circus atmosphere. "Bull Day's" press agent outlined the reason in the following way:

"Set up the slogan of fun on the farm. Give us again the fiddle and the clog and community songs,—light hearts and laughter. Invite the city people to the county, where they may sense its real charm and give imagination a new field. There is more romance and real life locked in the country's single hour than the city holds in a month. And so the dairy program should carry attractive forms of amusement."

Besides entertainments, a number of talks were scheduled for the afternoon. Stock judging occupied the time of young farm lads, while agricultural lectures and demonstrations were given by college of agriculture professors.

Baraboo farmers expect to demonstrate that the way to improve ills of agriculture is to make life on the farm attractive and to advertise its products.

Very few things that could happen seem to do it.

GASOLINE PRICE WAR BRINGS CUT IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Governor Calls Upon Neighbor States to Join in Fight Against High Prices

CHICAGO, Ill.—A reduction in the price of gasoline in South Dakota to sixteen cents per gallon was announced here Saturday by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. The action was taken by the board of directors, according to a statement issued by them.

Asks Co-operation in Fight

MARION, Ohio.—By The Associated Press.—One hundred and sixty thousand gallons of gasoline purchased in Chicago Thursday will be shipped at once to nine cities in South Dakota for sale to the public at 16 cents a gallon.

Announcement of this latest development in South Dakota's gasoline "war" was made here Saturday by Governor V. H. McMaster of South Dakota, who came to Marion to attend the funeral of former President Harding. The governor further announced that he is calling upon surrounding states to join in the fight against "high" gasoline prices.

MARION TODAY RETURNING TO NORMAL WAYS

army and navy officers of high rank in their bright uniform. Bishop William F. Anderson of the Methodist church and the Rev. Dr. Jesse Swank and the Rev. George L. Landis, of Marion, who were to officiate at the cemetery, were present. The gathering formed a semi-circle in the quiet room and all plainly showed their great grief.

"President Harding's father, Dr. George T. Harding, with his wife, entered with Secretary George Christian and were introduced to Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and the other members of the assemblage. They retired and in a few minutes Secretary Christian reappeared with Mrs. Harding, the widow, leaning on his arm.

Widow Greets President

"Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge arose to greet Mrs. Harding. 'Mr. President, I greet you,' said Mrs. Harding in a clear distinct voice, as she held out her hand to the man who succeeded her husband.

"Then, turning to Mrs. Coolidge, she wished her success as the new mistress of the White House. She next greeted Chief Justice Taft and Attorney General Daugherty and when Secretary Hughes stretched out his hand, she grasped it and said, 'Mr. Secretary.' She could say no more. Tears filled her eyes and those of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Taft.

"Quickly recovering, Mrs. Harding greeted the others, saying 'I cannot talk to you, but I could not think of having you enter this home without taking each of you by the hand.'

"There was deep silence as Mrs. Harding retired, and then the voice of a minister thanked God for the work of the late president and invoked the divine blessing on the mourning company. The casket was taken out, President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft, Secretary Hughes and the others following."

The relator continuing covered the funeral procession and the services at the cemetery from the viewpoint of a member of the official party:

Silence Marks Passing

"The slow procession wound its way through the streets where silent multitudes stood uncovered and with scarcely a movement and whisper, so great was their affection for Mr. Harding and their sense of loss over his death and their desire to sympathize with the stricken family.

"Arriving at the cemetery, the ministers preceded the casket to the vault. President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft, cabinet members and military and naval officials following with Mrs. Harding and other relatives.

"The casket was placed on a catafalque, President Coolidge steed facing it at the foot with the cabinet members ranged behind him, officers of the army to his right and officers of the navy to his left. The ministers who took part in the services faced the casket at the head.

"Someone gave a signal and the Trinity Baptist choir began singing the old hymn so dear to Mr. Harding, 'Lead Kindly Light,' amid the encircling gloom.

"Then reverently the word of God was read, telling of that glorious city where there is no sorrow, no sighing, no pain or tears, no death, no parting, then the prayer asking for the mercy and comfort of the Savior.

Taps Ends Service

"As the prayer ended, Mrs. Harding was heard to say a fervent 'amen' as though she, too, believed that God's grace was sufficient to meet her in time of need.

"The strains of 'Nearer, My God, to Thee,' came from the rear, hidden behind a nearby clump of bushes.

"The 'taps' were sounded. The casket was carried into the vault.

"Mrs. Harding entered to spend a last moment with her beloved dead. President and Mrs. Coolidge followed for a moment. Then the iron gates were closed.

"The members of the funeral party entered the waiting automobiles following President Coolidge, according to their rank, and the funeral cortege again wound its way out of the beautiful cemetery, leaving there the nation's beloved dead to sleep until the morning of the resurrection."

MITCHELL MOTORS TO BE AUCTIONED OFF

RACINE, Wis.—All assets of the Mitchell Motors company will be offered for sale at public auction September 12 unless a private bid is offered and accepted before that time, it was announced Friday. The property to be sold includes 35.46 acres of land and nine main factory buildings, having a total floor space of 604,000 square feet.

LATE PRESIDENT'S WIDOW LEAVING FUNERAL TRAIN

SPARTA PAYS HONOR TO HARDING DURING HOUR OF FUNERAL

SPARTA, Wis.—Sparta did honor to the memory of President Harding on Friday. The business block and many private homes were decorated with black and purple, or with the flags at half mast, and all business houses in the city were closed from one until five o'clock in the afternoon. A special memorial service was held in the Methodist church at 1:30 o'clock, at which time Rev. E. E. Horth, pastor of the church spoke impressively and with much feeling, on the text, from the book of Micah, sixth chapter and eighth verse—"He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of Thee, but to do justly and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with Thy God."

The Rev. Mr. Zimmerman, pastor of the German Lutheran church, assisted in the service.

The service was opened with the singing of the president's favorite hymn "Lead Kindly Light," and was closed with "Nearer My God to Thee." The church was decorated for the service. In the center of the pulpit, was a life size portrait of President Harding, draped with purple and black. On either side of the picture, and in front was a large basket of gladiolus. The pulpit was draped with the flag.

At the tolling of the bells in the city at three o'clock, traffic was stopped for five minutes, and respectful silence was paid to the dead.

By an order from Washington, the local postoffice was closed all day and no mail deliveries were made.

The Catholic church, the St. John's Episcopal church and the Evangelical church held their own services. The Congregational pastor being out of the city, no service was held in that church.

the employ of Frank W. Stearns of Boston, and an intimate friend of the Coolidges.

The resignation of Brigadier General Sawyer as physician to the president may reach the temporary White House in the New Willard hotel any day. Mr. Coolidge also has kept silent on this appointment, but Major James E. Coupal, medical corps officer stationed in Washington, who previously has attended Mr. Coolidge, was selected to accompany him to Marion.

Mr. Coolidge left Marion late Friday and citizens who had restrained themselves in respect to the memory of Mr. Harding, acclaimed him as he passed through Akron, Ohio, and Newcastle Junction, Pa. In response to applause of those who gathered around his private car, Mr. Coolidge appeared on the platform with the first lady of the land and was roundly cheered.

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—The war is on. The fire that has been smoldering in the La Follette camp for some months.—in fact, ever since the legislature has met,—has burst into flame. Senator Severson stirred it into a blaze with a speech at Waupaca the other evening, which brought forth from the governor a vitrolic demand that he (the governor) be advised of all the information the senator had so that action might be taken. The senator's reply was that the governor was not the proper judge to sit in his own trial.

* * * *

That the campaign of Severson et al is an effort of the La Follette crowd to put the skids under the governor there can be little doubt. It is a strange coincidence that Severson's outburst came on the day La Follette sailed for Europe. It is probable that La Follette knew what was to be pulled, because it is common knowledge that Severson had a conference with him when the latter was in Madison for a few days after his Battle Creek sanitarium stay and prior to his sailing for Europe. Had he expressed a desire to have Severson withhold his attack on Blaine, it is more than likely that the Iola legislator would have heeded his wish.

* * * *

Severson's charges that Blaine effectually blocked the enactment of any tax legislation in the 1923 session is a 50-50 proposition, because the governor can truthfully retort that Severson and his friends did the same thing. The truth is that all the tax legislation introduced was conceived for a political exigency and it is probably well for the state that no one of the bills became a law. No one questions that the Wisconsin tax situation can be bettered, but it must be after a thorough study and investigation by experts, not by political managers.

* * * *

The serious phase of Severson's attack is that he pictures moral conditions at the state capitol worthy the court of a decadent king. There have been for years and years some underground rumors of that sort of thing, but so many of them proved groundless that your correspondent has become inclined to await proof before he passes judgment. Severson alleges that he has proof of the statements he has made and will produce them in due time. From those on the inside comes the assertion that Severson has still further charges up his sleeve and when he lets go, the very foundations of the state house will be shaken.

* * * *

While Governor Blaine and Senator Severson were barking at each other, Senator Antone Knekuk of Shawano, the senate conservative member of the finance committee, issued a statement to the effect that what the state needs (and he predicts we'll get them in 1924) is more sound thinking, studious men of affairs in state government. He sees indications everywhere of a revolt against high taxes such as we had in 1914 which will wipe the present administration from the political map.

* * * *

Any way you look at it we're in for a nice campaign for the next twelve or thirteen months. More power to the politicians. They make life interesting.

POSSE TO RESCUE OF DRY AGENTS IN MOONSHINERS' NET

HAZARD, Ky.—Six deputy sheriffs who went from here Friday to Cockerill's Fork on Lost creek, where four prohibition agents had been surrounded by moonshiners, returned to Hazard Saturday with seven prisoners and seven stills after having exchanged shots with moonshiners in a brief battle in which no one was wounded.

Rumors that the prohibition agents had been unable to escape a trap and that three had been killed by moonshiners were set at rest by the deputy sheriffs.

DOCTOR CERTAINLY PARKED TOOLS INSIDE THIS PATIENT

SALEM, Ore.—When Jerry Wyant of San Francisco underwent a surgical operation at a local hospital surgeons found in his bladder not the malignant cancerous growth that they feared, but a surgeon's rubber glove. Wyant underwent a previous operation in San Francisco about two years ago. His physician here said that a few months after that operation a doctor's sponge was removed from Wyant's abdomen.

LINER STOPS IN MID-OCEAN FOR HARDING MEMORIAL

ABOARD THE S. S. MARTINIQUE.—By Wireless to The Associated Press.—Out of respect to the late President Harding the Martinique came to a stop in latitude 38.15, longitude 72.28 in the Atlantic, for five minutes at noon Friday while Captain Hudgins presided over memorial services. The steamer's flags were at half mast.

WEATHER OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday:

CIRCUIT COURT CLERKS MEET IN BARABOO, AUG. 21

The fifteenth annual convention of the Wisconsin Circuit Court Clerks' association will be held in Baraboo August 21 and 22, according to an announcement made by L. Kleeber of La Crosse, president of the association. Robert S. Coleman, chief naturalization examiner, of St. Paul, and Judge James H. Hill of Sauk county, will be the principal speakers. Other officers of the association are George O. Kellog of Elkhorn, vice president, and F. B. Moss of Baraboo, secretary and treasurer.

CHICAGO BOY DROWNS ON FIRST DAY OF VACATION

WAUKEGAN, Ill.—Irving Schultz, 19 years old, of Chicago, was drowned in Long Lake Friday during the first two hours of his expected week's stay at the Bible institute camp. Companions, who believe he swam out beyond his depth, declare he did not cry for help. They did not miss him for several minutes.

TABLE DANCE ORDINANCE

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Action on the proposed regulatory ordinance for dance hall's in the state has been deferred by Brown county until November, through action of a special meeting of the county board.

The measure which places restrictions on dances and the way they are conducted was tabled after much debate and lively argument.

STATE TO PROBE FLOGGING

ATLANTA, Ga.—State investigation of the reported flogging at Macon Thursday night of four men by a masked band, has been ordered by Governor Walker, he announced Saturday.

RUHR MINERS GET RAISE

DUESSELDORF — Wages of miners in the Ruhr pits are to be increased 245 percent immediately and the increase will be retroactive to Aug. 6.

FARMERS OF DOOR COUNTY MAKE WAR ON THE "HOPPER"

STURGEON BAY, Wis. — The grasshopper must go. So have decreed growers in five Door county townships, Baileys Harbor, Egg Harbor, Gibraltar, Jacksonport and Liberty Grove, they are willing and waiting to back their words up with atcions.

With county agents E. C. Bailey and A. A. Granovsky of the Agricultural Experiment station at their lead, farmers in the five districts are working out a plan for united action to bring about the complete eradication of the grasshopper pest.

The plan under consideration by the leaders will provide for scattering widely over infested areas of poisoned bait. This method, whenever followed thoroughly in vast grasshopper ridden areas of the nation, has proven effective and relatively low in cost of materials and efforts.

He has passed to the Great Beyond where there is no pain nor sorrow.

Prayer For Successor

"But while we pay this homage to our dead president, let us not forget his bereaved widow or his successor to this highest office that the nation has to offer. Let us lift up our hearts in prayer to our Heavenly Father above who has lead us to prosperity in the past that He may continue to lead and to bless this nation of ours in the future."

Mrs. F. A. Betzinger sang the president's favorite hymn, "Lead Kindly Light" and just before the close of the meeting rendered "Nearer My God to Thee," in which all assembled on the green joined in the last stanza.

The Rev. John Newton Strain eulogized the life of President Harding in a brief address. The prayer was offered by the Rev. H. P. Kinley.

Services at Onalaska

About 100 citizens of Onalaska gathered before the speakers stand in front of the Onalaska High school to pay tribute to President Harding. Rev. W. T. Walker, after America had been sung by the multitude, began the service with a prayer, followed by the singing of "Lead Kindly Light," by a quartet of local people. At 3 the audience was silent for five minutes while a church bell solemnly tolled the passing minutes.

While waiting for the speaker of the occassion Mr. John J. Esch to arrive the Onalaska band played a fitting selection. Mr. Esch told of the exemplary struggle, rise, and achievements of President Harding. At the close of the address the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung followed by the sounding of taps by a member of the band, which ended the service.

Kiwanis Club Service

A special memorial service will be held for President Harding at the regular luncheon hour on Tuesday, of the Kiwanis Club in the dining room of the Y. M. C. A. President Harding was an original member of the Kiwanis Club in his home town of Marion, Ohio.

$30,000 RAISED BY CIGARET TAX

PIERRE, S. D.—The first month the state tax on cigarets has been in effect has brought into the treasury $30,000 and indications are that the succeeding months will increase the revenue for there were a number of days in the month of July when it was impossible to supply dealers of the state with the necessary revenue stamps.

INSTALLS SON AS PASTOR

JACKSON, Minn.—Right Rev. C. J. Eastvold of Northfield, president of the southern Minnesota district of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, officiated as the installing clergyman when his son, Rev. C. S. Eastvold was installed as pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran church here.

CAPPER ASKS ROADS FOR RATE CUT ON WHEAT AND FLOUR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A voluntary reduction of 25 per cent in freight rates on wheat and flour for export was urged Saturday by Senator Capper, republican, of Kansas, head of the farm bloc. Senator Capper declared in a letter to the chairman of the Western Conference of Railroad Presidents that the railroads "had a great opportunity to do the nation a service at a critical time and greatly improve general business conditions" by immediately putting in force a reduction in export rates.

The western Conference of Railroad Presidents will meet in Chicago Monday.

URGES COURSE IN LOVE-MAKING FOR SUNDAY SCHOOLS

One Such Course Worth Forty Courses in Latin Declares New Yorker

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—No longer will it be necessary for doting mothers to chaperon personally little Rudolph to Sunday school—or little Marie for that matter. They'll go without urging from now on—that is, if the plans of Dr. Henry E. Tralle, New York Sunday school specialist, are carried through.

"Sunday schools should teach the science of love-making," he said in an address before the Michigan Baptist assembly, "and furthermore, there should be a secluded nook in every church house in which young folks could court"

His lecture was entitled "Sweet Sixteen," and made a big hit with those in their 'teens. The grown-ups didn't wax so enthusiastic.

One course in love-making is worth forty courses in Latin, was another gem of Dr. Tralle's talk. "Girls should have whole association with the opposite sex."

It was explained that the young folks would not have to swing over the garden gates, as in the days gone by, but could gallop down to the church, and—if the secluded nook was not already taken—could bill and coo to their hearts' desire.

plants, which normally employ 100,000 men.

At other plants the shop soviets have hoisted the red flag.

The reichsbank money presses were again in operation today and Berlin was promised six billion marks in new currency.

Paris Is Interested

PARIS—By The Associated Press—News received by the foreign office from Berlin indicating the early downfall of the Cuno cabinet and prospects of the formation of a government disposed to open direct negotiations with France is being followed with great interest in French official circles.

France, it appears from information gleaned at the foreign office, is willing and ready to talk, but, it is pointed out that France cannot enter into negotiations with Germany for her own account alone.

The insistence of Premier Poincare hitherto that the passive resistance in the Ruhr must cease before any negotiations were begun is not regarded as an obstacle, because that resistance has greatly weakened during the past week and it is expected it will be so nearly eliminated by the new developments that one point could be considered negligible. It would be necessary however, for the Germans to open negotiations with France, Belgium and Italy jointly regarding the occupation of the Ruhr and of course with Great Britain for any final settlement of the reparations issue.

Eleven Killed at Aix

BERLIN.—By The Associated Press.—Eleven persons were killed and many others were wounded today in a clash between striking workmen and peasants at Aix La Chapelle, according to a report reaching Berlin.

After Friday's raid on nearby farms by city workers, the peasants organized self-protection squads which this morning proceeded to repulse invaders who attempted forcibly to seize crops and stores of food.

Labor Situation Worse

LONDON.—According to a Central News message from Berlin, the labor situation in the German capital has become worse. All strikes except that of the banknote printers are continuing, it declares, and the leaders of the communists have proclaimed a three day general strike.

The communists are demanding Chancellor Cuno's resignation, the message adds, the confiscation of all foodstuffs for the benefit of the workers, increased wages, on the gold standard and permission to hold public demonstrations.

It is believed, the dispatch states, that the communists will carry through the strike proposition.

HE'LL HAVE PLEASANT TIME EXPLAINING TO HIS FRIENDS

DECATUR, Ill.—O. L. Rimmel, a Wabash roundhouse clerk, walked into a local bank Friday, cashed his pay roll check and those of twenty-six of his companions. He placed the $1,500 pay roll in his sweater pocket, then laid the sweater down on a table and turned back to speak to the cashier. When he went back the sweater was gone.

STORM HITS CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Ill.—An unidentified man was killed, numerous buildings were struck by lightning and basements were flooded and telephone and telegraph wires were broken during a violent electrical storm here early Saturday. Water flooded the Englewood police station to a depth of several feet in the cells and prisoners were removed to other stations.

NATIONAL GUARD TO CLOSE CAMP ON SUNDAY NOON

Best Marksmen Picked on Last Day of Target Work on the Range

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis.—Tomorrow noon, Wisconsin's National Guard field training period for 1923 closes with four weeks of field work to the credit of 3,500 men and 308 officers. A total of 92 units, the skeletonized 32nd Division have functioned during this four weeks of field training.

This is the first year since the reorganization of the Wisconsin National Guard following the close of the war that all the state units put in their training periods at the state camping grounds, here. This year many records were shattered, in marksmanship of rifle and pistol and in artillery fire. For the first time in the history of the state guard the motorized heavy artillery functioned at Camp Douglas.

Blaine There Too

Adjutant General Ralph Immell has been present every day of the encampments, participating actively in the work of the troops and in the administration of the camp. He has gained first hand contact with the men and officers as well as units and has a comprehensive grasp of the needs and esprit of the Guardsmen. With him Governor Blaine has spent some ten days in camp working and living with the soldiers.

The high esprit de corps, the unity of purpose and the hearty spirt of cooperation was one of the markel factors of both encampments. Officers and men of all grades pulled together and without question the two camps were among the most successful ever held by the state Guard. Regular army instructors and War Department representatives have given nothing but praise and spirit and efficiency of the soldiers.

The work of the Guardsmen is now transferred to their home stations, where they will pick up where they left off at camp and continue in the development of crack companies, troops and batteries.

Pick Best Marksmen

One of the features of the encampments was the splendid course of rifle practice that was made available to infantrymen and cavalry troopers by General Immell. As a special inducement for fine marksmanship, General Immell announced that he would create a state team for 1923 of the 12 best shots of the Guard. Every man shot a preliminary course of six ranges. High score men were permitted to fire the regular army rifle course for army ratings. Of these the 12 high were selected for the state rifle team. These expert marksmen are as follows:

WOMAN TO ENTER RACE

HELENA, Mont.—The first avowed candidate in Montana for a state office in the primaries of 1924 is a woman. Mrs. Josephine Spriggs, widow of the former lieutenant-governor, and a democrat, announces she will enter the race for secretary of state. Mrs. Spriggs, a resident of Townsend, is now a student in the Silver Bow law school in Butte.

U. S. SWIMMERS RACING ACROSS ENGLISH CHANNEL

DOVER, England.—By The Associated Press.—Another attempt to conquer the English channel which assumes almost the character of a race, was begun at 12:55 o'clock Saturday afternoon when two Americans, Charles Toth and Sam Richards of Boston and Romeo Mactel of Argentina entered the water and struck out for the French shore.

SPANISH PAINTER DIES

MADRID.—By The Associated Press.—Joaquin Sorolla Y Bastida, famous Spanish painter, died Friday night after a long illness. He was born in Valencia in 1863.

Public Debate

HELP THE TRAFFIC POLICE

The article which appeared in Public Debate several days ago, signed by W. F. Adams was very timely. As the automobile traffic increases it becomes more necessary to maintain traffic rules.

The men who platted the city of La Crosse thought only in terms of horse-drawn vehicles and did not vision the high-powered and speedy vehicles of today, hence the narrow streets.

In the olden days if fifty teams were on the business streets in the business district we were crowded, but now with five hundred automobiles rushing along at an average speed of twenty miles we complain if the traffic rules compel us to slow down at the street intersections, or prohibit "jayhawking." I believe every citizen who observes an infraction of the traffic rules, whether he be a member of the Automobile club or not should report the same, and should in every way support the traffic police.

If everybody cleans house we will have room to live in La Crosse for many years to come notwithstanding the increasing automobile traffic, otherwise we will be up against the proposition of wider streets and heavier penaleies. S. H. RUSSELL.

CYLINDER GRINDING

When a motor has lost its power, lacks compression, pumps oil, fouls its plugs, develops a knock or piston slap and consumes oil and gasoline out of proportion to the service rendered, it's a sure sign the cylinder needs re-grinding and fitting with over-sized pistons and rings. These conditions are caused by cylinders which have become worn out-of-round and taper. To overcome these troubles, the cylinders must be reground.

FORD SPECIAL—Ford cylinders reground and fitted with oversize pistons, wrist pins, bushings and rings, complete, $16.00.

All work guaranteed.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Narrow and unimportant price changes took place in Saturday's stock market, the quietest session of the year. Selling of the rubbers, chemicals and oils, as a result of unfavorable trade developments caused some heaviness in the first hour, but prices strengthened later in response to the usual week-end covering operations by short interests. Studebaker, Great Northern preferred and General Electric each advanced a point above Thursday's final quotations. Famous Players two and Woolworth 4½. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 125,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—Highest prices in several weeks were reached by the wheat market Saturday during the early dealings. Wet weather delaying the Canadian harvest and increasing the chances of damage to late wheat had a bullish influence and so likewise did absence of hedging sales here. Besides country offerings in all sections were light. The opening which ranged from ⅛ to ⅝c higher with September 99⅝ to 99¾c and December $1.03 to $1.03¼, was followed by slight further gains and then a moderate reaction.

Subsequently profit-taking sales depressed values temporarily, but a fresh advance ensued owing more or less to estimates that the Canadian yield would fail to total above 325,000,000 bushels. The close was firm, ⅜ to ¾c net higher, with September 99⅝ to 99¾c and December $1.03⅝.

Corn and oats averaged a little higher in sympathy with wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅜c up, September 77 to 77¼c, the corn market eased down somewhat.

Favorable weather conditions counted as a bearish influence later. The close was unsettled, ⅛ to ⅜c net lower to a shade advance, September 76⅞ to 77c.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c higher, September 36, hardened a trifle more and then showed a tendency to sag.

Provisions reflected steadiness on hog values.

AT WASHINGTON—PIGSTY NURSERY'S VICTIM—GERMAN MINE POST-OFFICE—PARISIAN PRIZE HAT

IT'S MESSENGER OF LOVE NOW—This marine mine, sown by the Germans and swept up by the British in the North Sea just after the war, now carries love letters across the Pacific on the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Australia. A deal in the left side shows how close one allied vessel came to being blown up.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE AND ESCORT AT CHURCH—President and Mrs. Coolidge leaving the First Congregational church at Washington on the first Sunday after his elevation to the presidency. Immediately in back of them are Frank W. Stearns, the president's most intimate friend, and Mrs. Stearns. Most of the others in the group are secret service men.

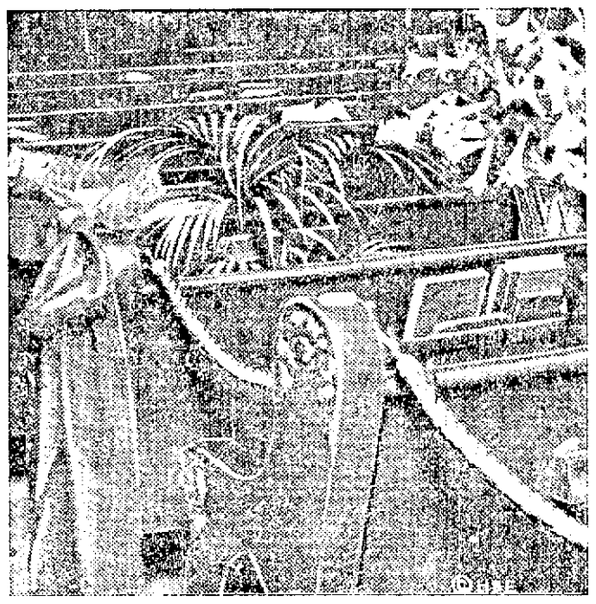

DOES THIS FORECAST THE FUTURE?—War experts believe that any conflict of the future will be settled in the air. Here navy torpedo planes are engaged in maneuvers at Newport, R. I. With the flag flying in the foreground it looks as though the human eagles were going to the defense of the Stars and Stripes.

TO REPRESENT U. S. IN CONTEST—The D-12 takes off on a trial flight at Port Washington, Long Island. Timers said it flew faster than a flying boat ever traveled before, but officials refused to divulge the time. Above are Lieutenants Rutledge Irvine and Lowell Bitten, house who will fly the boat against England, France, Italy and Spain in the contest off the Isle of Wight, Sept. 28.

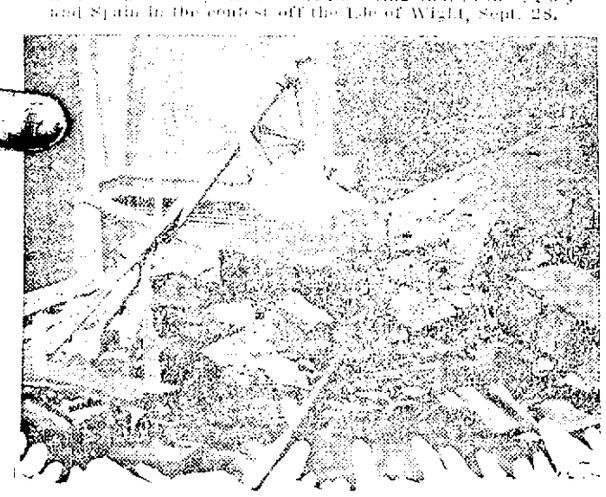

HOOSIERS' BEST—Pret-tiest bathing beauty in Indiana? She's Antoinette Folta of Michigan City. Fifteen thousand people seconded the judges' ruling by vociferous applause at the recent tri-state aquatic convention in Indianapolis.

TRIBUTE TO THE LATE PRESIDENT—Lilies and palms were tributes to the late President Harding placed in his crepe-hung pew at the Calvary Baptist church where he worshipped while in Washington.

FOUND IN PIGSTY—Neighbors declare Luisa Chaves, 13, lived in a piggsty and chicken coop at El Paso, Texas, for ten years. She has the development of a three-year-old child. The child's stepmother said Luisa was tubercular and she put her outside to protect the other children.

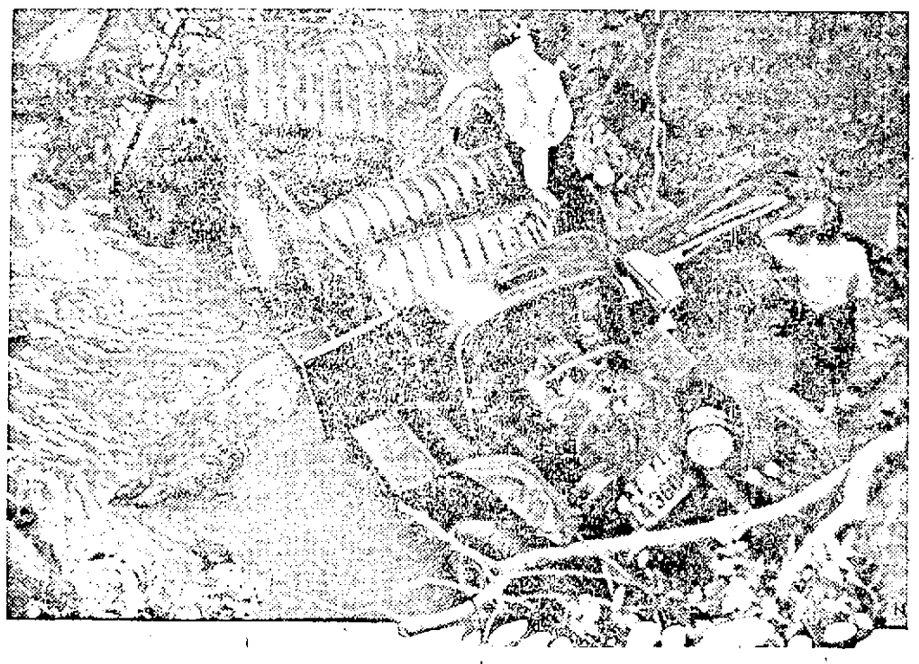

LUCKY HE HEARD THE ALARM—A guest in this room in a San Bernardino, Calif., hotel must be accustomed to waking up by an alarm clock. If he isn't he probably wouldn't have got out so quickly. On this particular morning rumblings roused him from his slumbers. A few minutes later a southern California earthquake sent a ton of rock coping and chimney brick down on his bed.

BRING ON THE WATERMELONS!—Willie Hesper lays undisputed claim to the watermelon-eating championship. The bathing suit really isn't needed, for Willie always hits the right mark—his mouth.

THE PRIZE HAT OF PARIS—This hat, worn by Mlle. Gypsy, dancer, won first prize in the recent annual millinery show in Paris. The band is combined white silk and straw, studded with imitation jewels. Blue velvet ribbon is shirred in fan shape on top of this and long streamers fall down the back.

THEN THE HOSPITAL, REPAIR SHOP—AND DIVORCE COURT—This machine carrying three women and a baby plunged over a 40-foot embankment at the Virginia end of the Chain bridge near Washington, D. C. One of the women was seriously injured. The man was cut about the head. His wife sued for divorce the next day.

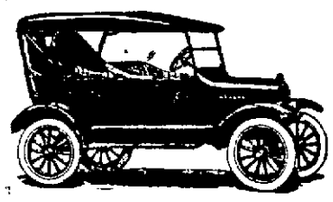

PRINCESS HELPED—The list of clerks, barkers and managers at the recent street fair at Southampton, Long Island, for the benefit of a hospital, reads like a page or two from the Social Register. Above is Princess Rospigliosi who ran an art booth.

AND SHE NEVER BOUGHT A THING—A woman in Hamilton, Ont., had a wardrobe extensive enough to meet the acquirements of a dozen or more of her neighbors. But she didn't split it up with them. She never paid cash and she had no charge account, police say. Now she's being held on a shoplifting charge! Articles merchants say she stole from them filled every nook in the court room. Here they are.
